Letters to the Editor

Solicitation Clarification
TO THE EDITOR: Red Doug Cooper, former YAF chairman, claims that YAF solicited contributions from students recently approved to USD Congress, he might have read a little differently into the solicitation statement. The solicitation requested, "Please contribute $1.00 to support YAF's 1969-70 campus activities." Doug Cooper's statement chairman said.
Replied, "It's no secret we've invested in student reform. The real issue is education."

The goal of Colloquy is to provide an opportunity for all segments of the University community to interact and engage in the exchange of ideas. Colloquy will be open to all students, faculty, and administrators. It will be the main function of Colloquy to participate in the interaction of ideas. Colloquy can be a valuable tool for educational reform. It has the potential to foster a more open and inclusive environment on campus.

Colloquy is a challenge to students to participate in the interaction of ideas. If it does occur, Colloquy may be catalytic to the academic reform movement. Thomas M. Golden, a co-founder of Colloquy, has said, "Get to the students first and then you can talk to the Administration." Colloquy's success would depend on the willingness of students, faculty, and administrators to participate.

Concerned About PHEAA
TO THE EDITOR: Many Penn State freshmen are frustrated.

If this does occur, Colloquy may be challenging to the academic reform movement. Colloquy is not a panacea for educational reform. It is not a substitute for action. But it can be a catalyst for change.

Collegian Letter Policy
The Daily Collegian welcomes correspondence on non-political matters. Letters must be typed and must not exceed 200 words. Letters must be signed and include name, term and major. The Daily Collegian reserves the right to edit letters.

Frustration for Freshmen
TO THE EDITOR: Penn State freshmen are frustrated.

They need to be involved in the decision-making process. They need to be part of the solution, not just the problem. If this does occur, Colloquy may be catalytic to the academic reform movement.

Get to the students first and then you can talk to the Administration.

Walker Lauds Colloquy Program; 'Great' Educational Experiment

By LAURA WIEDEMANN
Collegian Staff Writer

University President Tom W. Walker praised "Colloquy: The American Dream...Conflict '69," the student-organized conference held at Pennsylvania State University from May 18 to June 1.

"I think the people here demonstrated that they are capable of organizing a program like this," Walker said. "It is a step away from opinions, discussing with an attempt to acquire facts. It is a step away from slogans-shouting, the raised fist.

The Colloquy Committee, working to make Colloquy successful, has been a real experiment in getting the students involved in the classroom. It gives the students an idea of what university life here is like."

Powell Speaks Tonight, Ruby Dee To Appear

Earl Charles Powell (R.U.V.) will speak at 9 tonight in the auditorium for the "Black Festival." Ruby Dee will appear two nights later.

"This year we will, perhaps, have more praise for Colloquy, that might contribute to more realistic solutions to our problems," Mrs. Barash said.

"I think I speak for many when I say that without Colloquy, the University would not have been able to do so much," Mrs. Barash added.

Spring Week '69

The Daily Collegian Wishes All Groups The Very Best In Spring Week '69
Five Teams in Action Tomorrow

Baseball, Track, Rugby at Home

The Penn State campus will be the center of much spring activity tomorrow as there are many teams that will be in action. Facilities available for practice and competition include the Recreation Center track, track at night, and the outdoor track used for track meets. The Blue-White game will be played at noon tomorrow.

Football Drills To End With Blue-White Game

The next big game, the Blue-White game, will be played at 2 p.m. tomorrow. It will be a spring game and will take place in the Recreation Center. The game is expected to be attended by many students and staff members. The Blue-White game will be played as part of the spring practice season.

Problems and Headaches

Staf f will attempt to balance the squads in action. But if Paterno has his way, it may be a tie game. "The coaching staff will be trying to balance the squads, but if Paterno has his way, it may be a tie game," a source said.

The Collegian notes

A Quaker was asked, "For whom does the bell toll?"

and who came: Those little kids the other day.

The different views and techniques of those who were interviewed. Every one of those involved in the present situation by definition were part of the solution. We as people, not as individuals, but as people; and when we act at all as individuals, then we create the problem that leads us to the bell toll for the others.

The world is so crowded that... we need closer than ever to share the light of God with all men. We need to bear a heart in there is when we understand our own keyboard, these men are not the expression of a premature society.
